DATASHEET

OneList

Accelerate and control your critical business processes.

How many important business decisions are delayed awaiting management approval and what is this delay costing you? It could be for a new project, a new recruit, a price discount, or a new product. Are tasks being delegated to administrators because executives are too busy to login to back-end systems? Are managers being bombarded with email clutter? What is the real cost of these delays to your competitiveness, productivity and compliance?
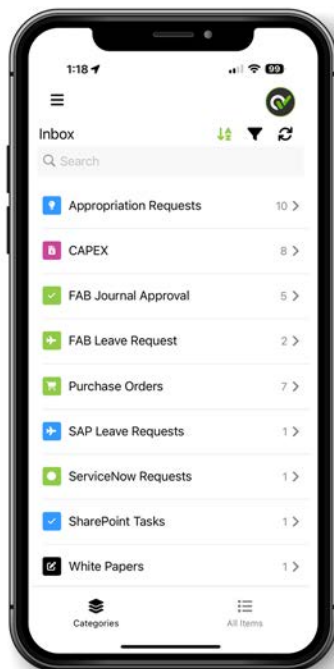

OneList allows managers to access all their approval decisions and history, across all workflow systems in one view, on any device.

OneList provides an intuitive and consistent executive user experience where important information is prioritized for ease of interpretation so that decisions can be made faster and more confidently.
